PROFESSOR HARRINGTON'S PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASSES IN A PROGRAM

"The Revival of King Tut" a take-off on college regulations, and "Negro Preacher and His Congregation," were the first and second prize winners of the public speaking classes of Professor W. L. Harrington Wednesday night, each receiving a sterling silver cigarette case. The prizes were presented by E. J. Kyle, Dean of the School of Agriculture of the A. & M. College, in the absence of President W. B. Bizzell, who was suddenly called to Austin, where the legislature is meeting. Professor Harrington was presented, on behalf of the 293 members of his classes, by Major Brown, with a magnificent gold watch that cost $135 and is certainly a splendid gift and appropriately depicts the sentiment of his students and their friendship and esteem for their instructor. The classes had been divided into 16 classes or groups and each group had held preliminaries and selected their representative number for the final contest. Professor Harrington had provided refreshments of all kinds for the boys throughout the program. The president, all the deans of the college, Colonel Ike Ashburn and W. A. Duncan were invited honor guests for the occasion.

N. D. COLE IS BRYAN BOY MAKING GOOD AS A HIGHWAY ENGINEER

The following paragraph is a clipping sent back to Bryan and is taken from a daily paper at Baton Rouge, La. The man who figures in the story is N. D. Cole, at present engineer for the state highway commission of Louisiana and tells of how he is making good on his job and something of the work he is doing. Mr. Cole was born and reared in Bryan, is a graduate of A. & M. college, another of the many successes turned out by this institution—and has brothers and other relatives living in Bryan at this time.

"A survey of the system of highways of the parish of Morehouse which are to be built during the present year has been started by the Louisiana state highway commission under the direction of N. D. Cole, highway engineer for the commission, and E. N. Holland, assistant. The parish has $1,000,000 available for highways and expects to build 50 of the 150 miles decided upon this year, if possible."

FRIENDSHIP BIBLE CLASS NEW OFFICERS

ALFRED COLLINS GETS 2 YEARS FOR ASSAULT WITH MURDER INTENT

The case of Alfred Collins was brought up in district court on Tuesday afternoon. The defendant pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to murder, upon the person of his wife, Dessie Collins, and was given two years in the state penitentiary. This will be remembered as the case where Collins, upon his return from West Texas, is said to have shot his wife in the thigh with a charge of buckshot, later being captured by officers in the briar patch east of the Bryan city cemetery.

The case of Charley Wisniski, charged with the sale of intoxicating liquor, was dismissed upon motion of the county attorney Tuesday afternoon, after a portion of the evidence had been submitted.

A motion for a new trial in the case of Malvin Woodward, sentenced for one year in the penitentiary for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors, was denied. No cases came up for trial this morning.

AUSTIN, May 31.—The Coffee House Bill proposing an increased gross production tax on oil from two to two and one half per cent was defeated in the senate today when that body adopted an unfavorable minority committee report without a record vote. The bill was not discussed. The adverse report was signed by Senator Holbrook. Only a few members voted on either side. Gov. Neff today sent to the legislature vetoes on all general appropriation bills passed by the last session. The appropriations aggregate $39,000,000 and include the departmental, eleemosynary, general education, rural school aid, emergency school, judiciary and miscellaneous claims.

NEFF EXPLAINS ACTION

Governor Neff said that he considered it his duty to veto the bills and give the legislature an opportunity to reconsider to the end that the state may be kept on a paying basis. Immediately after the vetoes, the senate finance committee reported favorably on the eleemosynary, judiciary, miscellaneous claims departmental and emergency bills as passed at the last session. The senate defeated the Patman pipeline tax bill, adopting a majority unfavorable report. The house passed two bills, appropriating $70,000 for pink boll worm control, prescribing methods for collecting taxes to pay for same.

ACADEMY BONDS ARE ALL SOLD BUT ABOUT TWENTYFIVE HUNDRED

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce that is selling the bonds of the Allen Military Academy reports that all but about $2,500 worth has now been sold, the committee having been out at work since the meeting of the body on Tuesday morning. The committee has canvassed pretty thoroughly and feel that every business man in the city should get behind this movement which will mean direct returns to them from money spent by Allen students and the enrollment will be increased with a portion of the money invested in the bonds. Every business man could afford at least $100 in bonds, surely, said one of the members of the committee and we are working on that basis. The personnel of the committee is as follows: H. O. Boatwright, W. S. Higgs and E. W. Crenshaw, representing the three banks, and Mayor Tyler Haswell and A. M. Waldrop.

CLARA PHILLIPS WILL FIGHT TO LAST DITCH TO OBTAIN FREEDOM

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 31.—Clara Phillips, convicted hammer murderess, declared she would fight to the last court to win back her freedom and good name, in an interview here.

Mrs. Phillips passed through here this morning en route to Los Angeles to serve a 10-year term in the penitentiary for the murder, last summer, of Mrs. Alberta Meadows. She saw Mrs. Lee Phillips, her mother-in-law and Saidie Phillips, her sister-in-law, at Houston. A. M. Gray at San Antonio, her foster father. Etta Mae Jackson was at the train to greet the latter, who is a sister of Mrs. Phillips.

OPERA HOUSE BURNED IN PETROGRAD -- MANY KILLED DURING PANIC

(By Associated Press)

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 31.—The Petrograd opera house burned down last night. Many in the audience were killed during the panic stricken rush for exits, according to Central News Agency dispatches. The dress of one of the performers caught fire from which the flames spread to the scenery. The despatch gave no details as to the number of casualties.

REPORT ON COTTON CRUSHERS MEETING BY DR F. D. FULLER

F. D. Fuller, Chief Inspector of the Texas Feed Control Service and Dr. G. S. Fraps, state chemist, A. & M. College have returned from Galveston where they attended the annual convention of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association.

Some changes were made in the trading rules of the association and newspaper reports would indicate that the Cottonseed Crushers intend to lower the grade of cottonseed meal in Texas but Messrs Fuller and Fraps state that this is not the case. There is absolutely no desire or intention on the part of the Texas Crushers to lower the high quality of Texas cottonseed meal but on the contrary they are proud of the high quality of Texas cottonseed meal and clearly brought out the fact that Eastern cottonseed crushers are raising their grades.

One speaker, according to Mr. Fuller, even went so far as to state that the crushers owed the Texas Feed Control Service a debt of gratitude for maintaining high standards for cottonseed meal and cake in the face of their desire to lower them several years ago. It was clearly brought out in all of the discussion that nothing in the rules was intended to lower the quality of Texas cottonseed meal. The standard for cottonseed meal in Texas will remain at 43 per cent protein as has been the case for a number of years.

The change in the rules is merely a change in trading rules, making them uniform with the rules of the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers association and when they sell in any state, they will conform to the feed law of that state.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Most of Churches of City Dispense With Regular Sunday Night Services For Congregations to Attend—Splendid Addresses, Good Music and Impressive Ceremony Attend Memorial.

Only a small crowd, but a very well-pleased one, attended the Knights of Pythias services on Sunday night at 8 o'clock at the Baptist tabernacle. The memorial service is an annual event in honor of departed members and comes as near to Memorial day as possible. Dr. Jno. A. Held pronounced the invocation after which Chancellor Commander George E. Hadley introduced W. M. Futch, grand chancellor of Texas who made the address of the evening, sketching Pythianism from its foundation in the story of Damon and Pythias down to the present time, the story being most interesting to all. In closing he said that of all those who had been summoned to the great beyond, one of his best friends, both in a personal and business way, was Hon. Lee J. Rountree.

Judge Davis in Memorial

The next speaker was Max Krauskopf, grand prelate of Texas who made a short talk along the lines of Pythianism. Judge W. C. Davis then addressed the assemblage in the line of memorial, taking up each one of the names listed below and, from his own personal knowledge of them, paying tribute as deserved and as earned by the deceased. During the entire performance the mixed choir from different churches of the city sang such numbers as "Till We Meet Again," "Lead, Kindly Light," "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder" and others equally as appropriate, softly and beautifully, the words of the speakers and officials carrying well above it. It made a most impressive background to the principal part of the program. Mrs. H. O. Boatwright acted as pianist.

"As the Lights Went Out"

Mrs. W. C. Davis and Mrs. George A. Adams gave a vocal duet, "Forever With the Lord," by Gounod. Chancellor Commander Hadley then asked the secretary, C. S. Beckwith, if all the members were present. Upon receiving a negative answer, he asked that the names of those absent be read. As each name was called, a light, on the previously arranged switchboard, went out, as the light of life went out in reality, until all was in darkness on the board.

MRS. FAIRMAN CALLED TO CORSICANA BY THE DEATH OF HER FATHER

Mrs. W. R. Fairman received a telephone message early this morning stating that her father, W. A. Long, a traveling salesman who was visiting his son, L. A. Long and family at Corsicana had died suddenly this morning at 3:25 o'clock. The cause not being stated. The wife, Mrs. Long, had been visiting a son in Navasota. Mrs. Long, Mr.

and Mrs. Roy L. Long of Navasota, Mrs. W. R. Fairman and Miss Roxie Long, left immediately for Corsicana by car. Fairman and Miss Roxie Long of Bryan, Mrs. Charles McNeil and Miss Mattie Long of Waco. The deceased had been enjoying the best of health, had never known sickness to any extent and the sudden news of his death came as a great shock to the relatives. The many friends of Mrs. Fairman and Miss Roxie Long who have made themselves and their work known through this section, extend to them the deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

BRYAN GIRL DIES AT SAN ANTONIO—BURIAL IN BRYAN THURSDAY

The remains of Miss Elizabeth Wolfe aged twenty-five years, who died in San Antonio Wednesday at the Grace Lutheran Hospital, was shipped to Bryan, arriving here early Thursday morning. Geissner, interment in the Catholic cemetery. The deceased was born and reared in Brazos county, but left Bryan about a year ago in search of health from that dreaded disease tuberculosis. Miss Wolfe was a graduate of Villa Maria, also of St. Mary's Hospital at Galveston, after which she came to make her home in Bryan nursing at Bryan Hospital. She leaves to mourn her loss a father, J. ### BUILDINGS FOR A. & M.

The Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas is no doormat baby. It is a legitimate child of the state, brought into existence by legislative processes. The school is entitled to be adequately housed, properly equipped, given every encouragement to full development. The legislature, however much it wiggles and wobbles, cannot disclaim its clear responsibility. Now is the time to construct buildings at A. and M.—not in some hazy tomorrow when the waiting high school graduates of 1923 shall have grown to be old men in the outworn harness of their agricultural forebears. The eager minds of youthful Texas constitute a precious raw material; the college represents the manufacturing medium for converting this raw material into something more tangible; a more prosperous countryside; a more virile and intelligent citizenry; and a greater commonwealth loom large as the potential product. All that is wanting is to put the educational plant to work at its full capacity. The need was never more urgent and the cause cannot be challenged. Imagine, if possible, our worthy legislature holding its sessions on the campus of the A. and M. college, under conditions identical with those endured by hundreds of students. Our legislative dignitaries would wilt many a collar while reclining under the heat-smothered canvas of the little tents that serve in lieu of sufficient dormitories. They would hang their heads in shame to find agriculture so woefully neglected at the very capital of farm life; they would want to spend money on substantial buildings rather than on extravagances, things of doubtful benefit, or matters that can better be postponed. Last fall approximately one-third of the graduates of Texas high schools entered the freshman class of this great institution. But will the next 900 or 1,000 freshmen have the temerity to brave even greater hardships than did last fall's class, in order to acquire agricultural training? Will not many of them be crowded into law schools, divinity schools, Eastern universities? Will not many of them go without the learning they crave, their ambitions diverted or curtailed? There are many in our legislature who are at heart honest and sincere. The time has come for them to cast a vigorous ballot in favor of the continuation, on a worthy scale, of the work of the A. and M. college of Texas. They are the ones, who, if their foresight equals their sincerity, may be expected to deny the pleas of projects and adventures that have no place in the business of our state, and to throw their support to every reasonable measure for helping the established state institutions perform their intended missions.—Texas Farm and Ranch.

THE A. & M. COLLEGE

To the above appeal The Chronicle gives its unqualified endorsement. The leading function of the A. and M. college is to equip young men for efficient service in the field of practical agriculture, and upon agricultural prosperity depends prosperity in every other sphere of endeavor in Texas—just as it does in every other state. The Farm and Ranch draws a picture of the legislators holding their sessions in tents in the dead winter and in the heat of summer in order to enact laws, as hundreds of Texas young men live and study in order to get an education. If such experiment were tried for one session there would be speedily erected a building. No appropriation within the limits of the ability of the state to meet is too great to be made for an institution that is doing work the benefits of which are felt not only by the people of Texas, but by those in foreign lands who demand, faster than they can be supplied, trained men such as the A. and M. college produces. It will be a great day for Texas when the legislators come to realize that of all the questions and subjects and problems which confront them, those relating to the farm and the ranch and to the prosperity of the farmer and ranchman and dairyman transcend all others in importance.—Houston Chronicle.

READ ADVERTISEMENTS

Read the advertisements in this issue and every other one of the Eagle and spend your money with home merchants. The merchant who solicits your patronage through the advertising columns of this paper is worthy of your first consideration. The fact that he advertises is proof that he has good values. For if a merchant does not have goods worth advertising then why should he spend perfectly good American dollars to advertise his wares. Trade with home merchants. It will pay you.

The editor of the Eagle is indebted to Dr. F. M. Bralley for an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the College of Industrial Arts, May 26-29, at Denton.

Any man who will stand in the way of his home city's progress certainly does not deserve to be named as a citizen.

ANOTHER TAXATION LESSON

Here is another little study in Texas taxation: Henderson county in East Texas has an area of 605,440 acres. Hardeman county in Northwest Texas has an area of 487,040. Henderson county has 381,605 acres of land in farms. 207,633 acres of which is improved land. Hardeman county has 366,152 acres of land in farms, 166,237 acres of which is improved land. Henderson county has a population of 28,327, of which 23,149 are native born whites. Hardeman county has a population of 12,487 of which 12,095 are native born whites. Which of these counties would you suppose pays the larger amount of taxes to the state? Henderson county, understand, has more area, more land in farms, more improved land and twice as many people. And yet whereas Hardeman county paid $64,630.13 in taxes to the state in 1920, and $71,167.62 in 1921, Henderson county paid only $54,634.93 in 1920 and $57,598.50 in 1921. And Henderson county received $157,333.09 from the state in 1920 in scholarship apportionment, rural aid, free text-books and sheriffs' and witness fees. And in 1921 Henderson county received $142,434.75 from the state in the same manner. That was $102,698.16 more than Henderson county paid in 1920, and $84,836.25 more than that county paid in 1921. During the three year period from 1919 to 1921 inclusive, Henderson county received from the state $222,804.72 more than it paid in during that period. Whereas during the same period, Hardeman county paid in to the state treasury $41,922.46 more than it received from the state in all forms. When gentlemen talk about placing burdens on "the people," is it not in order to ask: "Which people?"—Ft. Worth Star Telegram.

WORTH THE MONEY

Some gentlemen down at Austin suffered a qualm of doubt after they had appropriated $600,000 for making those scientific inquiries of flood prevention and water conservation. What more than anything else seemed to disquiet them was the item of $100,000 to enable stream flow measurements to be made. They came to suspect, under some extraneous instigation, as it appeared, that data to be got from the measurements of stream flows would serve no better purpose than to satisfy the idle curiosity of engineers. For such gentlemen there ought to be considerable reassurance in the remarks which C. E. Ellsworth of the United States geological survey made out at San Angelo the other day. The height and breadth of a dam, he explained, must, if it is to be made safe, be determined largely by the maximum volume of water coming down the stream across which it is built. But it is not merely safety that engineering science has in mind in measuring the flow of a stream. It takes into account also the question of economy. For, if the safety of a dam is jeopardized if it is planned on the basis of an underestimates of a stream's flow, so also is there an unnecessary expenditure of money if it is planned on the basis of an overestimate of the stream's flow. Guessing, in other words, incurs one or the other of those consequences. That in our dam building we have erred mostly on the side of excessive precaution, and so made these enterprises more costly than was necessary, is shown in Mr. Ellsworth's statement that "there has been more money wasted in Texas on unnecessarily large and expensive stream flow data than would be necessary to carry on a complete investigation of all the streams in Texas in the next 25 years."

The legislature made no mistake in appropriating $100,000 for measuring stream flows; no more than it did in appropriating $500,000 for topographic and hydrographic surveys. The facts which those appropriations will be productive of will make a solid foundation for a complete scheme of flood prevention and water conservation work, recommended in the investment markets bonds issued to finance projects based upon those facts and encourage communities to undertake such works. These results will make an appropriation against which the economists have made an outcry one of the most profitable investments that the state of Texas has ever made.—Dallas News.

TRUTHFUL FISHERMEN

Rev. J. P. Brown and Rev. C. B. Thompson went to Wixon Creek Thursday night fishing, but the downpour of rain spoiled their "night out" and they were forced to return home for shelter. Despite the weather they report a catch of ten and all too large to throw back except two.

The sixty-third general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church in session at Montreat, N. C., decided to admit women as members of executive committees. This is as it should be. The victory of the women was won despite the fact that a majority report of the committee was unfavorable.

You can help your home newspaper by buying from the merchants who advertise. When you buy from the advertiser, you at least have the satisfaction of knowing you are patronizing a concern that boosts your community, and it costs no more.

There are plenty who want to stand around and tell you how to do a thing, but few who are willing to get under the load and lift.

Albert Hanneman, Jr., left Sunday for Marlin, where he will enter summer school.

LAST WORDS UTTERED BY ROUNTREE IS NAME OF HOSPITAL SOCIETY

That Representative Lee J. Rountree's last words "Flowers for the living," uttered just before he fell dead in the house of representatives a few days ago, quoted the name of an organization of which Mr. Rountree was one of the founders, was stated yesterday by Charles M. Barnes of San Antonio. D. J. Colp was the third member of the group which organized a club for securing flowers, comforts, literature, music, motion pictures and other entertainments for wounded and shut-in patients of military hospitals in the eighth corps area, it was stated by Barnes, who is a retired colonel of the Texas national guard.—Austin American.

HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION OF TEXAS RESOLUTION ON ROUNTREE'S DEATH

From William T. Wheeler, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Highway association, Fort Worth, comes a letter under date line of Waco, May 16, authorized by the association and directed to Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, the letter being as follows: "At a directors meeting of this association which was held at Waco, Texas, Saturday, May 12, Raleigh Hotel, 10:30 a. m., our president, Mr. W. V. Crawford, appointed a committee composed of Messrs. Robert J. Potts of Waco, L. W. Kemp of Houston and George P. Maury of Mineral Wells to draft resolutions on account of the death of one of our vice-presidents, Hon. Lee J. Rountree, deploring his loss to our association and the state and extending our sincere sympathy to you. Copy of these resolutions is enclosed herewith, and a like copy has been spread upon the minutes of this meeting."

Following is a copy of the resolution passed under the heading of the Texas Highway association, resolution of the board of directors, Waco, Texas, May 12, 1923: "Whereas, the Hon. Lee J. Rountree of Texas, a vice president and an active member of this association, has been called to join the citizenship of the great world beyond; and

Whereas, he rendered most invaluable service to the people of Texas, and to this association by his daily personal efforts in his newspaper and in the legislative halls at Austin; and

Whereas, his character, ability and his pleasing and helpful personality commanded the admiration of all who knew him and deserved and honor for him both recognition and honor at the hands of the people of Texas; therefore,

Resolved by the board of directors of the Texas Highway association that we deplore his loss to our association and the state and extend to his bereaved family our deepest sympathy and condolence.

Resolved furthermore, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his beloved wife and that they also be spread upon our minutes as a token of our grateful memory of this good man gone. Signed, TEXAS HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION, Robert J. Potts, L. W. Kemp, George P. Maury, committee.

John K. Carr of Dallas has joined his wife here and will spend his vacation in Bryan.

SHAME ON YOU

A fellow who got mad and quit reading this paper about a year ago passed the office yesterday and looked to be very much surprised to learn that we were still publishing the paper. Of course we regretted to have this gentleman quit reading the paper, but we will manage in some way to get along until he gets in a good humor.—Bonham Favorite.

Tut, tut. Honesty is the only proper attitude for an editor whose paper has been stopped by a disgruntled subscriber. When a disgruntled subscriber stops his paper the editor ought to be ashamed of himself. It shows that in his editorial policy he failed to please everybody, and probably hasn't tried to. Shame on an editor who doesn't try to be all things to all men! If State Press were an editor—which heaven has forbade—he would make everybody love him by not crossing anybody's opinion, prejudice, purposes. In other words, if State Press were an editor he would be hypocritical, insincere, lacking in courage, lacking in character and maintain only a surplus of piffle to pour on the people. By this method he could make friends—oh, so many friends! And when he should come to die the bereft public would approach his bier and say, "He was one great editor. He never knew anything and never said anything—a grand editor was he."—State Press, in Dallas News.

OUR GREATEST ASSET

The greatest asset of any nation, state, county, town or community is its school boys and girls, who are being trained for life. One could not help but be impressed with this fact when they witnessed the graduation exercises of the high school Friday morning. There are some 1,300 boys and girls in the public schools of Bryan and every one of them a possibility for the best in men and women. They are to be the men and women of tomorrow; upon their shoulders will fall the responsibility of the government. The kind of training they get in school and the educational opportunities given them will largely determine their value to society. And because this is true it is the duty of every citizen to be a friend to education and give our boys and girls every possible advantage that they may make the very best of men and women.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL RAISE QUOTA FOR MEXICAN GIRL SCHOOL

Circle No. 1 of the woman's auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. Elton Stuart chairman, will have charge of the monthly inspirational meeting at the church on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. At this meeting every effort will be made to make up Bryan's quota for the school for Mexican girls. It is hoped that all pledges will be in by this time, and a free will offering will also be taken. An interesting program has been prepared and every woman of the church is earnestly urged to be present at this important meeting.

SERVICE TO PATRONS NOT IN CONTRACT—THE CONFIDENCE WORTH IT

An Eagle subscriber from some distance in the country called at the office one morning, and having mislaid his yesterday's paper, wanted to look at the office file in an effort to locate an ad that had appeared in that specific paper. Of course we rendered him all assistance possible and sent him on his way to the place of business in question. Our friends who advertise with us thus at times meet with favors that are not called for in their advertising contracts.

Confidence Supreme

Another advertiser called at the Eagle office a few days ago and placed a want ad in the paper for the sale of some lots. When asked how many days he wished it to run, he said, "Only today, I'll sell the lots tomorrow." There's confidence in Eagle want ads of the right sort and variety. That man has the same confidence in the Eagle want column as the members of the Eagle force who have seen these things work out from day to day. Drop an ad in this want ad column. It will buy, sell, rent, find, barter or exchange.

WEST TEXAS VISITOR

Uncle John Shepherd, who moved from Brazos county last year to Mitchell county, near Colorado, to make his home with his sons, is on a visit to friends in this city and at Kurten. Mr. Shepherd states that the terrible cyclone that wrought such destruction in that locality last week, missed them only two miles. He says the suffering and devastation is beyond description. Mr. Shepherd, before going to make Mitchell county his home, had been a resident of Brazos county at the old Shepherd homestead near Kurten for more than fifty years.

Miss Laura Belle Roten spent Thursday in the Brazos Bottom, in her work as county demonstration agent. She reports fine crops and gardens, and that the women and girls of that section are unusual in their interest in flowers for the home yards, the vegetable gardens and the raising of poultry this year.

RECITAL GIVEN BY THE CLASS OF MRS. J. M. FERGUSON A SUCCESS

(From Saturday's Daily). The recital given last night at the high school auditorium by the pupils of the classes of Mrs. J. M. Ferguson, was a pronounced success in every way. The program was given according to the schedule and each child did splendidly, reflecting credit both upon themselves and their instructor. To give any one child particular mention would be an injustice to the others for each rendered well the piece selected for them.

BIBLE CLASS PARTY

The monthly social meeting of the Friendship Bible class on Thursday evening from 7:30 to 11 o'clock at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Albert Buchanan, on West 24th street, was one of the delightful social affairs of the week. The wide lawn was prettily arranged with rugs, lawn seats and chairs, bowls of sweetpeas on pedestals, a Victrola and the big oak trees were hung with gaily colored Japanese lanterns which gave beauty and color to the garden scene. A bright moonlight, added another charm to the evening. The hostesses for the month were those whose birthdays came during the month of May, and were as follows: Miss Maude Bookout, Miss Laura Belle Roten, Mrs. J. T. S. Park, and Artie Lou Smith. After a program of pleasant games music and contests on the lawn, the guests repaired to the dining room, where strawberry brick cream and angel food cake were served on dainty china, to twenty-one members of the class present.

STUDENTS GRADUATING TODAY INTO A WORLD OF SPEED AND JAZZ

(From Friday's Daily). The commencement exercises went off perfectly this morning at the high school auditorium, everything having been properly arranged beforehand. There was food for thought and ample entertainment and people who attended went away feeling the spirit of great business that we are now engaged in; full of determination to do their duty as citizens of Bryan and Texas. The three speeches as noted in the program below were all splendid, those of Misses Gertrude Sims and Mary Lilly Fountain being especially mentioned by Supt. Hall while he declared that the speech on democracy by Ralph Howell was a veritable masterpiece. Dr. Frederick Eby of the college of education, University of Texas, gave a masterly address on "Graduating Into an Age of Jazz," showing how the faults of the present age can be overcome and how we can ride over them to higher things beyond. Supt. Hall presented three scholarships: to Miss Gertrude Sims and Ralph Howell to the University of Texas and to Miss Mary Lilly Fountain to Baylor college for women, Belton, Texas. He explained briefly the modern methods of education and particularly the application to the Bryan schools. He said, "Education today is a science on a level with the profession of medicine, law or the ministry and no one ought to engage in teaching without training equivalent to that required in the profession."

NEGRO STILL LIVING WITH A BROKEN NECK

(From Tuesday's Daily)
A case of a nature that seldom occurs in the usual walks of life came to the Bryan Hospital Monday when a negro was brought here from Hearne with a broken neck. The negro whose name is Will Harris, aged 25 years, was wrestling with another negro in Hearne Saturday and was thrown on his head and neck. Bystanders at a distance of several feet heard his neck crack. He was brought over to the hospital here to see what could be done for him. He was kept here yesterday and after a thorough examination it was decided that nothing could be done for him and that death was inevitable, said Dr. John W. Black, of the hospital this morning, and he was sent back to his home at Hearne to await death.

THEY FIDDLER ALONG TO OLD-TIME TUNES

Lovers of old-time "fiddling" enjoyed a rare treat last Saturday afternoon when J. J. Presley of Cook's Point, Jim Floyd of Rock Prairie and K. Kelly of Coleview vied with each other at the chamber of commerce rooms in the rendition of those old-time "classics," such as "Billy in the Low Ground," "Turkey in the Straw" and "Arkansas Traveler." It made George P. Edge and County Agent C. L. Beason and others present think sorrowfully of those by-gone days when "fiddling was fiddling and dancing was dancing."

Mrs. E. J. Parks and Oliver J. Parks motored to Belton Sunday and spent the day with Miss Helen Kerr Parks, a student at Baylor College.

BRAZOS COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPARTMENT

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

W. J. Fraser, of the University of Illinois, in Hoad's Dairyman, states that "The profit from 25 alfalfa-fed cows equals that from 850 cows fed on clover and Timothy," that part of the ration for each cow in both herds being the same and consisting of 35 pounds of silage, 3 pounds of corn meal, 2 pounds of ground oats, except the 25 cows fed 12 pounds of alfalfa hay while the 850 cows were fed 11 pounds of clover and timothy.

The March of Progress

Manufacturing, commerce and agriculture might be considered as the three principal divisions of business in this country of ours. Those engaged in manufacturing and commerce have all these years recognized the importance of technically trained men to assist in bringing up these industries from their infancy to the present world-wide importance and wonderful development. Manufacturers have sought the best schools in which to train their children, or from which they might obtain the best equipped young men to direct and manage their gigantic enterprises, indispensable factors in the march of progress of the century in its morning march to a greater civilization than the world has yet dreamed. Commerce, with the earth bedecked with bustling and growing cities and harbors laden with products from all the world, has ever been quick to recognize the importance of placing the ablest men possible to obtain in the council chambers of commerce that it might keep pace with the progress of the age. Not so with farming, the basic industry of all industries. Too long we as farmers have been characterized by an indifference toward progress or that which is conducive to a better understanding of the many problems demanding our solution. Too long we have appeared as if we thought that the only requisite on the farm was a man "strong in the arm and weak in the head," with the result that while other industries have grown and prospered farming has lagged in the march of progress until now all thoughtful men recognize the imminent danger to all enterprises, unless farming can be made to thrive and prosper along with other industries. B. F. Yoakum, the man who has traveled the road from that of a farm boy to that of a director of great railroad systems, declares cooperative marketing is one of the essentials to successful farming. Chemists and soil experts declare we must give attention to soil conservation and soil efficiency. Agronomists tell us that seed selection, rotation of crops, etc., will add to the prosperity of the farm. Perhaps all are right and each should be included in the scheme or plan of a better agriculture. Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace thinks a better day is dawning for the American farmer. Farm & Ranch declares, in a recent editorial, that farmers are giving greater consideration to higher education as a means to better preparation for the solution of the problems confronting the farmers of today, adding, "Today the lad and lassie from country lanes and marts of trade are knocking at education's door for the opportunity to prepare more adequately for the practical business of life."

The amount of money handled the past year is $1,962,941.89." A number much enjoyed on the program was a reading of "Christ Casting Out Demons" Through the Evangelistic Centers by Mrs. Harold D. I Shall Be Judged County Agent J. O. Graham of Wharton county says, in writing to Farm and Ranch on community cooperation, "There are always a few in every community who consider it a virtue to oppose anything that is being 'promoted' regardless of its merits. Does that apply to me? Should I oppose that which my fellows think would be for the better-

HUNDREDS MOURN THE PASSING OF A FRIEND "MOTHER" M. D. COLE

From the union of W. T. Wilkes, born November 2, 1802 at Macon county, Georgia, and Mary E. Law, born October 26, 1820, at the same place, and who were married on Feb. 23, 1836, was born one who was lovingly known to nearly all Bryan and Brazos county as "Mother" Cole and whose death Wednesday afternoon was felt in the hearts of hundreds of her admirers, her friends and acquaintances as well as her many relatives, for she left children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, truly a wonderful heritage. Mary Almera Wilkes was born April 29, 1841 at Macon, Georgia. She came to Cass county, Texas, in 1854, at the age of 12 and has lived in this great state continuously since that time, for a period of 70 years, which entitles her to be called an early settler, a pioneer in the Lone Star state who saw it freed from the Spanish yoke, saw it grow into the Lone Star republic and then be annexed to the United States and made a part of that great nation.

At the age of 14 she was converted and became a member of the Methodist denomination which church has held her thoughts, has been the beneficiary of her religious activities and enjoyed and appreciated the things she has done for its future and advancement, since that time and up to the time of her death. She was married to John W. Covey on February 9, 1860, at the age of 19, and to this union were born four children: Mrs. Minnie Elliott of Bryan, Mrs. Eula Dunn, deceased; J. Edgar Covey of this city, and Wiley Covey, deceased. Her husband died in 1866, the year after the great national struggle, and three years later, in 1869, Mrs. Cole moved to Bryan to make her home, which city has been honored with her residence since that time. In 1872 she was married to Mason D. Cole and to this second union, four children were born also: W. Houston Cole, Bryan, and Jeff Cole, Almera and Hattie Cole, deceased. Coupled with the care of these eight children through the big heart that was enclosed in her bosom, she reared four more children, taking upon herself the additional care in her desire to be of service: John, Albert and Mary Cole, all deceased, and Ruby Cole, now Mrs. Sim Cooper, at the home of which daughter Mrs. Cole has made her home for the past several months and which was her residence during the time of her departure from this life. Since the death of her husband she has alternately made her home with different ones of her children.

In the death of Mrs. Cole, the passing from earthly life to the eternal life that God has promised upon that other shore, there are a host of people in this section, in every community which she has honored with her residence, who sincerely mourn the loss of one whom they looked upon, and truly, as a friend, not only a friend of all that was best and that was right, not only a Christian friend, and a kindly big-hearted soul, but personal friend. She was a most kindly disposition and cheerful at all times and under all conditions. Though confined to her room for many long and weary months she never complained, always bright and cheerful and full of inspiration to many of us, who, too often with greater favors and blessings bestowed upon us, do not have the wonderful, inspiring viewpoint of she, whom we all called "Mother" Cole.

The Pall Bearers
Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at three o'clock at the First Methodist church, conducted by Rev. H. C. Willis, pastor of the church, with interment following in the Bryan City cemetery. The pall bearers were active: Robert Armstrong, E. W. Crenshaw, J. M. Caldwell, John M. Lawrence, H. P. Dancy, W. L. Bradley; Honorary: W. E. Saunders, E. J. Jenkins, C. E. Hester, J. H. Webb, E. H. Astin, J. B. Stevenson, W. H. O'iver, T. C. Nunn, W. F. Gibbs, W. A. Deason, J. D. Martin, C. M. Bethany and F. L. Henderson.

A profusion of flowers were heaped over the mound of the grave as a mark of the honor and respect and veneration in which Mrs. Cole was held by the hosts of friends. It depicted their desire to pay, thus, a last and beautiful tribute. The profusion of flowers and their magnificence only showed the number of her admirers and the high place she held in their hearts. There's a trail that leads to a heavenly home When the cares of earth are at end, Where we'll meet and clasp the hand of each That on earth we called our friend; We mourn the passing of the loved When from our midst she's gone, but some glad day in the far away We'll meet in the great beyond. The out-of-town people present at the funeral were: Willie Bynum and mother of Calvert, Mrs. Hattie Stafford, being a sister of Mrs. Cole; Miss Lucy Christian of Houston, a sister of Mrs. J. E. Covey, and Mrs. Maud Nash, of Dowie, a daughter of R. B. Elliott.

THIRTY-SIX GRADUATES OF ALLEN GIVEN DIPLOMAS TUESDAY NIGHT SCHOLARSHIP TO BROUGHTON CADE

Tuesday night at eight o'clock, in the Palace Theatre, a large audience of Bryan folk, friends of academy, and friends and relatives of the boys, were present at the twenty-fourth annual commencement exercises of Allen Academy. While simple, the exercises were dignified and impressive. In presenting to the public the thirty-six men to graduate from the academy, Mr. N. B. Allen spoke briefly of what the work just accomplished by these young men means, of the honorable record of the school in its twenty-four years of steady progress to a position of South-wide recognition, and of the ideals which—because of the fine school men who founded it—the school stands for. All present sincerely shared in his regret that illness for the time kept Mr. R. O. Allen away from the school and particularly away from a ceremony to which he has always before lent the grace of an eloquent and cultured spirit.

Honors Are Awarded
After Mr. Allen's prefatory remarks, and the invocation pronounced by Rev. J. J. Tatum, the commencement address was delivered by Dr. Lindsey Blayney of Rice Institute. Upon the gravity and nobility of the future profession of the young men just graduating—the profession of American citizenship—no man is better fitted to speak than Dr. Blayney, who is considered the greatest educator in Texas.

In addition to the diplomas, the honors of the year were presented after the address. The senior scholarship medal, with the incidental choice among the many scholarships at the disposal of the academy, was presented to Broughton B. Cade, who chose to accept the scholarship offered by the A. and M. College. The junior scholarship medal fell to a boy who wins it for the second consecutive year, Placide Lambertson. The Astin medal, given by Mrs. O. H. Astin, presented to the boy making, during the year, the greatest improvement in English, was won by Edward H. Clark, a sophomore. Ira T. Cleveland received the Capt. Chesley R. Miller medal for most distinguished work in mathematics. It is here incidentally of interest that a few years ago Cleveland's brother also won honors in mathematics in the academy. The Harrington medal for American history went to R. Dozier Moncrief, the Harrington medal for English History to H. H.

MINISTER SAYS IT HAS NO EQUAL

Widely Known Baptist Divine Praises Tanlac for Restoration of Health.

It is doubtful if there has ever been a medicine endorsed by so many ministers of the Gospel as has Tanlac. Indeed, there is scarcely a faith, creed or denomination in all the land in which one, or more, of the clergymen has not publicly expressed their indebtedness to the Premier Preparation for the benefits they have derived from its use.

One of the latest to speak out in this connection is Rev. B. M. Bridges, a widely-known and beloved Baptist preacher, residing at Mooresboro, N. C., whose statement follows:

"Tanlac has given me a good appetite, toned up my system and renewed my strength in such a gratifying way that I am glad to recommend it to anyone who is in a run-down condition. For 10 years past I have had such a severe case of indigestion that I could not find anything to eat that agreed with me. Finally I became very nervous and could get but very little sleep or rest.

"It seems that I took nearly everything, trying to get myself right, but nothing helped me until I ran across Tanlac. My nerves are so much better now that my sleep is sound and refreshing. I enjoy my meals and have also gained weight. I can say from experience that Tanlac is a splendid medicine and tonic, for it has built me up wonderfully. Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

PORTLAND CEMENT IN DEMONSTRATION USES FOR DIFFERENT THINGS

The Portland Cement association, co-operating with M. R. Bentley, specialist in farm engineering, extension service, A. and M. college of Texas, gave interesting chart lectures on the use of concrete on the farm at the chamber of commerce rooms Saturday afternoon, some 30 farmers and business men attending the lectures. Following the lectures H. R. Herndon, representative of the Portland Cement association, invited those present to go down stairs and witness the mixing of cement for the various purposes. For convenience a slab for sidewalk was laid near Haswell's store, the mixture consisting of two parts of sand, one part of cement, and three parts of stone. Mr. Herndon cautioned about the use of too much water in the mixing process, whether it be done by hand or by machinery.

Many Different Uses

The charts used in the lectures showed the many uses of concrete on the farm, such as septic tanks, water troughs, walks, manure pits, drops used in terracing lands, spillways, silos, water tanks, etc. Interest in the subjects discussed was manifested by many questions being asked by those present. Mr. Herndon stated that sand used for mixing cement should never contain more than 3 per cent dirt, and he showed how this could be determined by putting sand into a fruit jar, pouring in water and thoroughly mixing and then let it settle, the dirt rising to the top and showing, approximately, the percentage of sand.

$200,000,000 Lost Annually

Mr. Bentley stated that $200,000,000 was thrown away annually through the loss of barnyard manure which could be saved by the use of manure pits on the farm. He also showed many farm conveniences, how to construct water systems, septic tanks, drains, concrete floors for granaries, poultry houses, etc., adding that all interested should send to the college, or call on the county agent for bulletins dealing with specific problems.

BRYAN GETS MOST OF HONORS AT CONVENTION DISABLED VETERANS

Bryan Will Be Convention City For Largest Meeting Ever Held in This Section as Result of Efforts of L. E. Bailey, Commander of Disabled Veterans of Texas and Oklahoma.

Bryan, next convention city for the disabled veterans of Texas and Oklahoma, will be host to between 1,000 and 5,000 delegates in the early summer of 1924, according to L. E. Bailey who returned Monday from Dallas where he had been since Friday presiding as state commander at the convention of disabled veterans held in that city. He was made commander of this organization for the state of both Oklahoma and Texas and through his influence a Bryan man was made treasurer of the organization in the person of Harry Guiberson, a student in civil engineering at the A. and M. college. Mr. Bailey is an agricultural student at the same institution.

MEN WILL BE CARED FOR IN REGULAR ARMY STYLE
Mr. Bailey stated today that he had planned to procure army tents from San Antonio army posts and to hold the convention in Bryan along army lines. The delegates will experience much the same routine as they did in France behind the battle fronts. They will live in tents, eat in mess halls, awaken to reveille, be summoned to "eats" with the familiar "chow call," and close their eyes to the ever beautiful and alluring "taps." Oklahoma alone has promised to send 500 delegates to this meeting. Each camp will send $10 to defray the expenses of each delegate sent and this sum will be used to feed them during the two days they are here. Mr. Bailey asked the people of Bryan to extend to this, probably the biggest thing ever scheduled for the city, the same cordial hospitality and courtesy that they always show on such occasions. Mr. Bailey said that after he had secured the next convention for Bryan he was asked if Bryan could handle it and he said his reply was, "Bryan always has and can take care of any proposition that is put up to her."

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions of sympathy and respect, were submitted by the committee appointed from Bryan Chapter, No. 222 Order of the Eastern Star:

"On the 2nd day of May, death visited the Legislative Halls of Texas at Austin and laid hand upon the heart of our friend and brother Lee J. Rountree, and took the soul that had been launched upon the sea of life fifty-four years ago. During the years of his life, the mariner regularly took his bearings endeavoring always to keep the true course and, notwithstanding his limited physical strength, accomplished great things in the uplifting of humanity.

"He has left a record which places him as foremost among those of whom it can be truly said, 'he was one who loved his fellow-man.' A statesman of ripe experience, a writer and publisher of considerable accomplishment in his state and nation, a Mason and a member of the Eastern Star who loved and served the order, he has left a vacancy in our ranks which will not soon be filled.

"To every responsibility to which our brother was called he wrought faithfully and for the best interests of his city, state and nation. There was nowhere to be found a more ardent and enthusiastic member of his Lodge, his community and society at large. The splendid results of this good man's labors will be seen for many years and his devotion to principle will be an inspiration to all that come after him.

"May the companion he has left behind, our Worthy Matron, find sweetest consolation in the thought that earth's loss is heaven's gain—and bow in humble submission to the will of Him who is too wise and too good to err, and know that it will be her blessed privilege in the Father's own good time to be with this loved one again in that home beyond the stars—where they may spend together the endless eternity of God.

"Though life is a wearisome journey, As we sigh with the dust and the heat, While the rays of the sun beat upon us And the briars are wounding our feet, Yet, the Lodge to which we are going Will more than our trials repay, And the toils of the road will seem nothing When we get to the end of the way.

"When the last feeble step has been taken, And the gates of the Lodge shall appear, And the beautiful songs of the angels Float out on the listening ear. Then all that now seems mysterious Will be plain and clear as the day, And the toils of the road will seem nothing When we get to the end of the way."

"We suggest that a page in our minutes be set aside for a copy of this memorial, and that a copy be furnished our sister, Mrs. Rountree.

MRS. OAK MCKENZIE,

MRS. J. B. DUNN, JR.,

MRS. ALBERT BUCHANAN,

Committee.

KIRKSEY OF ALLEN IS HIGH POINT MAN OF THE ACADEMIC MEET

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle)
Despite the large number of entrants from the other academies only two other schools finished ahead of Allen; first place honors going to St. John's academy of Delafield, Wis., with a total of 60 points. Second place to Lake Forrest academy of Lake Forrest, Ill., with a total of 49½ points. Third place to Allen academy of Bryan, with a total of 35½ points. Albert Kirksey, the Allen sensational sprinter, was the high point man of the meet, winning first place in the 100-yard dash, time 10 3-5 seconds; first place in the 220-yard dash, time 23 1-5 seconds and fifth place in the 220 yards low hurdles, giving him a total of 11 points.

Record Is Broken

The three Bryan boys, Cortemeglia, Satterwhite and Grelen, distinguished themselves in each of their events. Cortemeglia broke the National academy record in the javelin throw by more than 20 feet, throwing the spear 166 feet 8 inches and he also finished third in the shot put. Satterwhite won second place in both the shot put and the discus. Grelen, battled with McLellan of University school of Cleveland, Ohio, to a tie for first place in the pole vault, attaining a height of 11 feet 4 inches. Hill of Allen academy followed Cortemeglia for second place in the javelin throw. Although his distance is not known, it is thought that he must have also broken the National academy record. In spite of their gruesome two-day's trip and the decided change of climate the Allen boys showed the larger northern academies such as St. Johns, Lake Forrest, Culver and Shattuck, that, if equal in number of entrants, they would have to step some to beat the Texas boys. This is the first time that Allen has entered a team at the national meet, but in the future the northern schools may take notice of Allen academy as a competitor.

FUTURE OF ROTARY IN BRYAN DISCUSSED

At 5 o'clock on Tuesday, the Brenham Rotarians telephoned President W. S. Barron that they would be unable to come to Bryan for the luncheon Wednesday, but hoped to fill the engagement at a later date. The chief item of discussion at this Wednesday luncheon was "What Shall the Bryan Rotary Club do in the Future?" Secretary E. E. McAdams made his report for the past Rotary year. This report was audited by Rotarian Wilson Bradley. The question of budgetizing the Rotary income for the ensuing year was discussed, and the budget committee stated that a proper budget could not be arranged until the committee was informed by the club what would be its attitude toward the education fund of the club; that is: should the educational fund be subscribed by Rotarians outside of the regular income. Upon motion of Rotarian C. L. Beason, the president was authorized to appoint an educational committee to arrange a program and policy of the club and report at the next meeting. Bryan Rotary Club is paying the tuition of two boys in A. & M. College of Texas. The boys gave to the Rotary Club their notes payable "At my convenience," bearing 6 per cent interest from the date of graduation or leaving A. & M.

The new Rotarians were as follows: Forrest Jones, under the classification of flowers; W. F. Davis, Stat on Agent; J. Horace Kraft, Vocational Agriculture and Edwin Crenshaw, Jr., Life Insurance. Visitors were: Mr. Ragsdale, the guest of Edwin Crenshaw, Jr., representing the Southwestern Life Insurance Company; Jimmie Rockwall, Rotarian from Houston, personal representative of Jno. Singleton, district governor. Rotarian Rockwall urged all Rotarians to attend the meeting of Rotary International to be held at St. Louis Missouri on June 18.

W. B. ENGLISH MOVES HIS COTTON GIN FROM BRYAN TO BROWNFIELD

W. B. English, who has for many years operated a cotton gin at Smetana, southwest of Bryan about six miles, left Tuesday for Brownfield, Texas, southeast of Lubbock, where he will erect his gin and open for business in his new location. The gin, structure and equipment is already enroute in two cars and will be taken out and put up as soon as it arrives. The family will leave the latter part of the week for Brownfield. Mr. English has been a resident of this county for over 46 years and his many friends in the Smetana Community and elsewhere here he is known regret to see him leave but wish him success in his new location. Mr. English is disposing of his holdings in this section in order to make Brownfield his permanent home, but he said this morning that one never knows; lots of people have come back after a certain length of time and Brazos county was a good place to live.
